

Introductory Workshop

Engaging Students in International Issues: The Choices Approach

Saturday, April 8, 2017
8:30 am-3:00 pm
Penn Museum
3260 South Street, Philadelphia, PA 19104

Cost: $145 per person. Thanks to the University of Pennsylvania's Middle East Center and South Asia Center, the first 15 educators to register may do so at the subsidized rate of $95. Fee includes two Choices curriculum units, six Act 48 credits, lunch, and all workshop materials. Partial scholarships are available for preservice teachers.

Who Should Attend: History, civics, geography, government and other social studies teachers, as well as humanities teachers, are the target audience. Materials are appropriate for grades 7-12.

Co-sponsored by University of Pennsylvania's Middle East Center, South Asia Center, and the Penn Museum of Archaeology and Anthropology.

During the workshop, you will:

- Be introduced to the Choices Program's award-winning resources and approach to teaching about contested international issues;
- Examine and work with the Choices units The Middle East in Transition: Questions for U.S. Policy and Indian Independence and the Question of Partition (provided);
- Attend a special talk by Dr. Salam Al Kuntar, Associate Faculty and Co-Curator of the exhibit at Penn Museum. Participants will view the new exhibition, Protecting Cultural Heritage in Syria and Iraq, highlighting cultural heritage protection.

This is a participatory workshop, so come ready to be engaged and inspired! To register, please visit:
